Celebrated "Science Day - Honoring Sir C. V. Raman"

On Date: 27th February 2026

1. Objectives of the Program:

The Science Day Celebration was organized to honor the scientific contributions of Sir C. V. Raman and to promote scientific awareness among students. The objective of the program was to encourage innovation, research interest, and analytical thinking among students. The session highlighted the importance of science and technology in solving real-world problems and motivated students to develop curiosity and a scientific mindset.

2. Participants' Benefits / Outcomes:

The expert talk delivered by Prof. V. V. Waykule, Assistant Professor, AISSMS College of Engineering, Pune, provided valuable insights into science, innovation, and research. Students understood the importance of scientific thinking, research opportunities, and innovation. The interactive session motivated students to explore new ideas and strengthened their interest in scientific and technological development.
